

STEPHEN LINSTADT

AUTHOR OF
“THE HEART OF HEALTH: THE PRINCIPLES OF PHYSICAL HEALTH AND VITALITY”

Music is the tangible semblance of the Divine Emanation that is the creator and sustainer of matter, time, and space. Music calls nostalgically to The Hymn of Creation to which Pythagoras turned his ears and fixed his attention whereby hearing and understanding the universal harmony more intense than anything affected by ordinary sounds. The spiritual significance of music lies in its imitation and reminder of the Creative Word through instruments and voice. Ultimately, it serves to beckon one to obtain the knowledge of how to hear God for themselves.