

The Spiritual Significance Of Music

KARSH KALE

Music is the sound of the spirit that dwells in all of us. It is the unseen yet tangible connection that we all share and no matter what language or culture may make us different, the vibrations of music show us our similarities. The ideal of spirituality is to reach a collective consciousness, and music is a universal pathway to this place. There are no preconceived ideas of language needed to understand how profound music can touch the world and how much music can move it.
